Valera Is Advanced For Presidency of Irish Free State

Government Headed by William T. Cosgrave Resigns After Defeat by Narrow Margin in Assembly and Fianna Fail, Chief Opposition Group, Says It Will Nominate Valera as Head of New Ministry.

Canadian Press
Dublin, Irish Free State, March 28.—The government of President William T. Cosgrave resigned today, after its defeat by two votes in the Dail yesterday on an opposition measure.

Sean O'Kelly, who is leading the Fianna Fail, principal opposition element, in the absence of Eamonn de Valera in the United States, announced his party would nominate Valera as President.

The Dail then adjourned until next Wednesday.

The vote by which the government fell was sixty-six to sixty-four, twenty members of the Dail being absent.

VALERA IN CHICAGO

By CECIL DOUGLAS,
Associated Press Staff Writer
Chicago, March 28.—Eamonn de Valera to-day said he would answer a call to the presidency of the Irish Free State if the Dail elected him.

The leader of the Fianna Fail (Republican Party), principal opposition to the Cosgrave Free State Party, whose government, headed by William T. Cosgrave, has resigned, was here for an address, keeping a weather eye meanwhile on events in his homeland. He said he would cut short his American trip and return home if necessary. Valera had planned to continue his tour after Easter.

"If I should be selected by the Dail, which chooses the President and Council, to succeed Mr. Cosgrave," Valera said, "I would form a Flanna Fail Government. It is a situation offering many possibilities and an interesting historical event."

"It marks the resignation of the party that has so far been working under the treaty. We have to take up our place in the United Kingdom under which the Irish Free State was set up. Our party has been endeavoring for some time to obtain a majority in the Dail to carry out its declared policies."

GASOLINE WAR SPREADS IN WASHINGTON

Motorists in Seattle Paying 14 to 15 Cents Gallon For Their Supplies

Retailers Say They Are Not Suffering Losses at Present Levels

Canadian Press
Seattle, March 28.—A month gasoline prices at 14 and 15 cents a gallon at most service stations to-day. Seattle's gasoline war seemed to be entering a long siege as activities were broadened to take in most sections of the state. A few stations in Seattle were selling for 11 and 12 cents a gallon.

The war yesterday extended into the Grays Harbor district and a few days ago dropped on Wenatchee. Prices along main highways were held at from 14 to 16 cents a gallon throughout the western portion of the state.

With wholesalers in most cases keeping actual price secret, reporting a tank wagon price of 18½ to 19½ cents and a net of 14½ cents, retailers said they were suffering no loss at present prices.

Seattle prices are said to be the lowest in the state, and with the exception of Portland, the lowest on the coast.

RED GROUPS AND BANDITS GAIN IN SOUTHERN CHINA

Canadian Press
Victoria, March 28.—Communist and bandit forces which have held sway in southern Kiangsi province for several weeks were believed to-day to have taken Nananfu, Kiangsi, only fifty miles from Kanchow, where sixteen United States Roman Catholic missionaries have been held unable to escape through the lawless bands.

Efforts to communicate with cities in the southern Kiangsi district continued fruitless and no word had been heard of the safety of the missionaries, for whom fears had been held for some days. Chinese officials to-day continued to maintain that the red siege of Kanchow had been lifted, but due principally to lack of telegraphic facilities, which are controlled by the bandits, confirmation was impossible.

Northwest Veterans May Get Pensions

Veterans of the wars with the Indians on the Canadian prairies, including the Riel Rebellion, will likely be placed on the Canadian war pensions list on the same basis as soldiers who took part in the Great War, if proposals now up at Ottawa go through, it was learned at the Canadian Legion today.

There are at least a score of Northwest veterans of around forty-five years ago now living in Victoria who will be eligible to go on the pensions role, it was estimated to-day.

Changes in the Pensions Act now being aimed at in Ottawa include one making all ex-service men eligible, and another making it clear explained.

This would thus bring in fighters who have taken part in all Canadian warfare.

It is understood that changes in the act will make it possible for all Canadian ex-service veterans over a certain age, who need it, to draw regular monthly pension for life, whether wounded or not, just as is the case with veterans of United States wars.

FOUR EXPEDITIONS NOW HOMEBOUND FROM ANTARCTIC

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London, March 28.—Four expeditions are now homeward bound from the Antarctic with their harvest of discoveries.

There has been no such combined attack on the mysteries of the still-uncharted continent in the far south since the period from 1901 to 1904, when the English, Scottish, Swedish and German ships laid simultaneous siege to its frontiers at widely-separated points. Neither Scott, Bruce, Nordenkjold nor Drygalski, the commanders of these earlier expeditions, had the advantage of aircraft possessed by Byrd, Mawson, Wilkins and Riiser Larsen, in the operations that have just concluded.

The use of the aeroplane has been abundantly justified by results. The ships have opened up long stretches of new coastline, but the aeroplanes have widened enormously the field of vision, out a single mishap to the personnel, and added at least a general impression of Antarctic scenery hitherto beyond reach.

Byrd took as his field of work the Ross sea area south of New Zealand.

Wilkins operated from the South Shetlands, south of the Horn. Mawson was between them on the Atlantic side; and there, too, as it happened, Riiser Larsen, the Norwegian, pegged out his claim. In each of these spheres the opportunities were abundant; so also were the perils and difficulties of pack ice and blizzard, and it is a tribute to the good leadership of all the expeditions that they are returning with vision of the earlier explorers. Besides this, he has added 20,000 square miles of hitherto unknown areas in the region of King Edward VII Land, and 15,000 more square miles of the untraversed Ice Barrier.

WILKINS AND MAWSON:

Sir Hubert Wilkins did his best work in the Antarctic during the previous season, when, from his aeroplane, he mapped in new lands and sounds in the Graham Land sector. His work this southern summer has been less fruitful, but it carries the coastline far beyond the discoveries of Charcot, the Frenchman, and the three weeks' cruise in the William Scoresby, from which he returned only a few days ago, has opened up an apparently limitless sea of broken ice where land was thought to be. The work done by Sir Douglas Mawson in the Discovery is complementary to that of his Aurora expedition. Operating to the westward of the land he explored in 1911-14, he has discovered some 700 miles of continental coast, determined the character of the interior over a wide area, charted new mountain ranges, rising in places to 7,000 feet, and done besides an immense amount of work in oceanography, geology and meteorology.

It was, perhaps, unfortunate that Captain Riiser Larsen, leader of the

IT'S a sailor's life for Mlle. Fernande Marchasson, in two senses of the word, for as she sells the seas, she also makes sales.

This delightful Frenchwoman has three addresses—one in Paris and in New York, but most often just "on the ocean" east of Father Neptune."

She has what to those bitten with wanderlust, sounds like the most enviable of jobs. She conducts a gift shop on board the liner Île de France.

She displays her wares in the most modernistic and beautiful surroundings, not to mention the average living-room, and only the fact that it has port holes instead of windows, betrays the fact that it floats. Otherwise, she has 10,000 stock of fine perfumes, fancy boudoir pillows, scarfs, handkerchiefs, humorous toys, and exoticistic dolls, perfume, porcelain, shawls, exquisite lingerie and costume jewelry might be displayed on Fifth Avenue or the Rue de la Paix.

A COMPLETE COLLECTION

So complete in fact is her collection that tourists forget to buy in Paris that she is at sea in Mlle. Marchasson's shop.

"Oh, yes, I have traveled much—thirty-eight times over and back on the Île de France," she said, and before that about as many times on the Île de France. Before that I used to travel to Mexico to see the El Capitan, and during the tourist season we go over and back in sixteen days. That would be many thousands of miles, wouldn't it? And I love every mile of it."

"How many miles have I sailed?" Her two hands went up in a typically Latin gesture. "I am thinking about 100,000 miles from New York to New York and back again was it not?"

Mlle. Marchasson's own choice of ship, the Île de France, is a choice of life. She loves Paris, which is her home. She loves France, which is her home. She loves a garden with flowers and old friends. And she had thought that she liked settled, quiet, calm sort of life. But being a tremendously successful saleslady in a Paris department store, her first job put her in line for the high seas.

"Then, too, old friends of other voyages are constantly coming in to see me. And one makes me come along each time I leave the ship."

"There is always the sense of high advantage at the beginning of each voyage," she explained, "how her work has fascinated her. Then, too, old friends of other voyages are constantly coming in to see me. And one makes me come along each time I leave the ship."

"There is always the sense of high advantage at the beginning of each voyage," she explained, "how her work has fascinated her. Then, too, old friends of other voyages are constantly coming in to see me. And one makes me come along each time I leave the ship."

"Trip over and back are very different," she explained. "Going over, it is surprising how many tourists forget their hairbrushes, their bedroom slippers, their toilet water. Children always need dolls or toys to entertain them. And perfume is my biggest seller going over."

"On the return trip, I specialize in gifts. It is amazing how travelers always forget half the purchases they intended to make when they leave. Suddenly, on the second day out, they jump up from their steamer chairs recalling this friend who sent a marvelous basket of fruit when they sailed, or that next door neighbor who will be expecting something. They have failed to provide a return courtesy."

"They have failed to provide a return courtesy," she continued. "They have failed to provide a return courtesy."

GANDHI STATES THE SALT TAX IN INDIA DOOMED

National Leader Continues Attack on Foreign Cloth and Liquor

Ankleswar, India, March 28.—At a meeting at Sajod yesterday, Mahatma Gandhi, who is leading a march of his volunteers to Jalapur to manufacture salt in contravention of the government monopoly, said the salt tax was discriminatory, while the foreign cloth and liquor shorty before or not he was permitted by the government to reach his objective.

He referred to Sir George Schuster's recent statement in the Legislative Assembly that the government was referring the salt tax question to the tariff board so as to secure salt for the masses as low a price as they would pay if the tax were abolished.

However, Gandhi said, "I would not be satisfied with this saying there were other forms to be stormed, including foreign cloth and liquor. He admitted he was not impressed with the progress made in the Broach district, which he will leave tomorrow morning.

The plan to invite Premier Ferguson announced late yesterday by Representative L. G. Drury, Dominion attorney, in charge of the salt witness case, He also said that Pierre S. du Pont, of Wilmington, Del., an industrial magnate, also would be a rebuttal witness to answer charges of dry advocates who had assailed him in the hearings.

It was hoped Premier Ferguson would answer the claim made before the committee this week by E. C. Drury, former Premier of Ontario, that the control system in Ontario "is an absolute failure."

In answer to this, Premier Ferguson said in Toronto that "the best evidence of the satisfaction of the public of Ontario as to the law is shown in the result of the last election.

The province repudiated Mr. Drury's policy and returned ninety-two supporters of my government out of a total of 112 members in the Legislature."

NO CANADIAN TARIFF AGAINST INDIES URGED

Ottawa, March 28.—Free entry into the Dominion of all tropical products except those of the West Indies was advocated in the Senate yesterday. The proposal came from Senator H. J. Logan, Liberal, Nova Scotia, on the ground that such action would be in the interests of Canada, the British West Indies and the empire as a whole. Senator C. E. Tanner, Conservative, Nova Scotia, after remarking the question of trade with the West Indies was great interest to Nova Scotia, thought he would like to examine into the matter closely, and so moved adjournment of the debate until next Tuesday.

"The West Indies are the part of the British Empire that is nearest to us," Senator Logan stated. "Why should we not, as big brother, hold out to them the hand of kindness and encouragement in every way possible?"

"We can do much more for the West Indies than we could do better assist the development of British trade. The people of the British West Indies are extraordinarily loyal. The United States is holding out many inducements to those people to trade with them, but it is not their desire to trade with the United States. They desire to trade with us, and if we can assist them to increase that trade by throwing off the duties I think it would be in the best interest of Canada and the empire as a whole."

Police are still seeking Kemp, who is said to be the leader of the quartet, three of whom were arrested after a short period of freedom.

led by her son, James Glaspie of Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wood of Marpole Hill have returned from a holiday spent at Vancouver.

WHEAT PRICES AT WINNIPEG HAVE UPSWING

UNEMPLOYMENT VOTE TO-DAY IN BRITAIN LARGE

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer

May Closes Trading Session To-day at $1.09½ a Bushel and October at $1.12½

Dry Weather in Southwestern U.S. Influences Dealings in Grain

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, March 28.—Firmness in Liverpool wheat quotations and dry weather in the United States winter wheat belt encouraged values upward in the Winnipeg Grain Exchange and wheat closed 1½ to 2 cents higher for the day. Seaboard houses bought specifically through an uninteresting source.

May wheat climbed 1½ cents to $1.09½, while the other two futures showed two-cent gains. July closed at $1.11½ and October at $1.12½ bid.

Late buying, which sent quotations to their high points for the day, appeared to be based on anticipation of more unfavorable news from the southwestern United States overnight. Trade in the aggregate was light.

Exporters and shippers confirmed a fairly good cash wheat export overnight, but little business was done to-day despite better offers.

Oats and low grade barley collared virtually all the coarse grain sales.

SITUATION AT NAVAL PARLEY REPORTED EASED

Means Studied to Satisfy France So Tonnage Total Will Be Cut

Canadian Press
London, March 28.—The offer of some measure of "security" to France as the price of reduction of her tonnage figures and the naval limit pact into which the United States may be drawn will be the chief topics of conversation to-day around the Five-power Naval Limitation Conference.

The situation with France has been greatly eased. A small sub-committee is trying to find some compromise between the French demand for more security guarantees and strengthenings of the guarantees already assured by other powers under the League covenant, and the British stand. There is general expectation the sub-committee will find a middle road which will satisfy the French that they can reduce their naval programme, and if they do, the British-United States position figures may be cut accordingly.

POSITION OF ITALY

But now, with France back into the parley, if in fact it eventuates in the European Union, U.S. delegates to-day turned attention to Italy with the hope of securing some sort of compromise from the Mussolini Government. Italy has stood to her guns and reiterated her original contention of parity with any continental power. France is consistently maintaining its view of different national positions in view of different national positions. It is heart-breaking to see the dirty persecuting calumny; it is very heartbreaking to see our own motives questioned, our most sacred thoughts derided."

UNEMPLOYED MEETING LEADS ASSIZE COURT

Four Men Before Jury in Vancouver as Result of Events on January 27

Canadian Press
Vancouver, March 28.—Charged with having caused a "tumultuous disturbance" against the "peace of our lord the King, his crown and dignity," in assembling on the Powell Street grounds here for the purpose of parading to the City Hall, so that "firm and courageous persons in the neighbourhood had reasonable grounds to apprehend a breach of the peace," William Bentzett, James Littleck, Allan Campbell and George Drayton were arraigned in the Assize Court to-day and pleaded not guilty.

The trial is proceeding before Justice W. A. Macdonald and a jury of twelve men.

A. H. Macneill, K.C., is prosecuting, and W. W. Lefebvre is defending.

The accused, according to Mr. Macneill, opened the case to the jury, were responsible for the unemployed meeting of several hundred persons on the Powell Street grounds on January 27. Although notified by the police that a parade would not be permitted, "they determined to go on," said the prosecutor. The parade, he explained, was stopped by the police, "for reasons which seemed good to them."

The Only Larks in America

CRUCIFIX IS REMOVED FROM COURTROOM

Montreal, March 28.—Mr. Justice Duchesne of the Superior Court strongly protested yesterday against the placing of crucifixes in Quebec courtrooms, refusing to go on with a case because a crucifix had been placed in the room in which he was presiding. "As a silent protest against some of the furniture of this courtroom," said the judge, "this case is adjourned to my chamber."

Placing of crucifixes in Quebec courtrooms has been proceeding for some time, and the Superior Court was reached Wednesday. Opposition from other quarters had been reported before Mr. Justice Duchesne's action yesterday. The crucifixes are about four feet high and each is fixed to the wall in such a position that witnesses directly face it in the witness box.

The crucifix which was hanging on the wall in the courtroom of Mr. Justice Duchesne had been removed to-day.

It is understood Premier Taschereau has been communicated with on the matter.

SAANICH TAX RATE IS REDUCED

Councillor Somers said: "For some years the rural wards have been promised that, when the debt rate was abolished, the ratepayers could look for some reduction in taxes."

WARDS NEED MUCH WORK

Councillor Eden recalled: "Last year we started with ward funds of around $7,000, the grants went up to $8,000 and $9,000, and were still short. If a cut in taxes is made we shall have expensive road-making machinery idle for a year."

Reeve Crouch commented: "The wards would still be short at the end of the year if they each had $20,000 to spend."

Councillor Oldfield said the people looked for some reduction in taxes, and the Reeve pointed out that if it were not for having to provide $8,500 last year by the School Board, the council could easily make a cut in the levy.

Councillor Crowhurst supported a reduction, if not too drastic. He believed new buildings would add to the tax revenue, a view denied by Councillors Hagan and Somers, who claimed that many residents at Cadboro Bay which gave little revenue to Saanich while demanding much costly road building.

Councillor Borden believed that assumption by the Province of control of the roads was not wise, and that Saanich $7,500 and asserted the people were urgent for lower taxes since public debt charges had been abolished.

Councillor Eden warned that the year would close with a deficit and cause an increase next year.

Councillor Somers said he was satisfied to leave the job of improvements to the tax assessors at fifteen per cent of the value. When Reeve Crouch stated that changes in the Municipal Act would undoubtedly reduce the assessment roll next year.

VICTORIA STATE, AUSTRALIA, VOTES ON PROHIBITION

Melbourne, Aus., March 28.—For the first time in the history of this state residents to-morrow will vote on the question of prohibition of alcoholic liquors, the result to be binding on the whole of Victoria and not on its individual parts. Wets will vote no and drys will vote yes.

The campaign was greatly intensified during the last few weeks. It is estimated the wets have spent $14,000 and the drys $40,000. The poll will cost the Government $25,000.

YEAR'S REVENUE OF THE RED CROSS TOTALS $660,133

Toronto, March 28.—Voluntary contributions to the Canadian Red Cross Society in 1929 totalled $365,391, according to the report of National Commissioner Dr. J. L. Biggar, presented at the annual meeting of the Central Council here yesterday.

Commissioner Biggar's report showed the total membership was 40,451 and the gross revenue of the society was given as $660,133.

During the year nearly 1,000 women completed the nursing course of the society, 115 men and women. The organization was successfully affected in two provincial divisions, New Brunswick and British Columbia.

Einstein's first announcement did not attempt to say what his discovery is, but only that its existence is demonstrated in mathematical formulae, which he called field equations.

These equations, however, failed to work altogether satisfactorily, and their accuracy was challenged. Einstein modified them, seeking to eliminate weak spots. The Berlin dispatch indicated success.

Dr. M. S. Vallarta, assistant professor of physics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, to-day explained the importance of the Berlin announcement.

"It means," he said, "that Dr. Einstein's first announcement did not attempt to say what his discovery is, but only that its existence is demonstrated in mathematical formulae, which he called field equations. These equations, however, failed to work altogether satisfactorily, and their accuracy was challenged. Einstein modified them, seeking to eliminate weak spots. The Berlin dispatch indicated success.

The Flanna Fail policies the republican faction leader outlined as: Irish unity and independence; re-building of Irish industry so that Irish could be supplied, far as possible, by Irish labor; thus ending unemployment and its consequence, emigration; restoration of the Irish language as the spoken tongue of the land, and generally a fostering of the culture which had distinguished Ireland among the nations.

The Flanna Fail was organized by the Flanna Fail and its associates in 1922 and has been the second party most successful in Ireland since polling the second highest preference vote in the general election of 1927. That election resulted as follows: Government 61, Flanna Fail 57, Labor 13, Farmers 6, Independents 13, National League 2.

The vote on which the Cosgrave Ministry met defeat came on the second reading of a bill to extend the operations of the Old Age Pensions Act, introduced by R. D. Ward of the Valera party.

The Government opposed the bill on the ground that it involved an extra annual cost of from $1,250,000 to $1,500,000, but the Labor Party supported it, together with several Independents.

Of 50,746 head tested but 180 reactors were found.

EINSTEIN EXPLAINS HIS DISCOVERIES

Says He Is Now Able to Prove Gravitation and Electricity Are Related

Berlin, March 27.—Professor Albert Einstein has presented to the Prussian Academy of Sciences a new paper he wrote with Dr. W. Meyer. It strictly static solutions of the field equations of his uniform field theory.

It connects gravitation and electricity in two cases. The first case is that of spherically symmetrical field in space, for example, the eternal field of a uniformly charged sphere of a fixed mass. The other case is that of the static field of any number of unchanged particles at rest with respect to one another.

By Howard W. Balkeles, Associated Press Science Editor

Cambridge, Mass., March 28.—Einstein's first practical proof of some mysterious connection between gravitation and electricity was announced in his paper.

The discovery of mathematical equations which he says prove gravitation and electricity are related has created a world sensation about a year ago. One of the great goals of science is to learn the connection between these two universal forces. Along with light, they affect every moment of human life.

DAIRY DISTRICT PASSES TEST

Vancouver, March 28.—The Fraser Valley is now entitled to be classified a T.B.-free area. The re-test, just concluded, of cattle for bovine tuberculosis has shown that only 37 per cent were reactors. For a district to obtain this classification the number of reactors must be less than half of one per cent.

The Government opposed the bill on the ground that it involved an extra annual cost of from $1,250,000 to $1,500,000, but the Labor Party supported it, together with several Independents.

In addition to the advertisements of the big department stores, of the grocery and hardware stores, of the millinery, clothing and shoe stores, there is another kind of advertising that is being read more and more by readers of this newspaper. That kind of advertising is the Classified Columns.

A man or woman wants a job. They read the "Help Wanted" columns and probably insert an advertisement of their own under "Positions Wanted." Employer and job seeker soon get together to the benefit of both. A man may want an automobile—possibly he cannot afford a new car, so he looks in the "Used Car" columns and finds just the car at the price he can afford to pay. Some one has lost a pocketbook, valuable papers or even a pet dog. The "Lost and Found" columns soon bring loser and finder together.

The Classified Columns are so arranged that any one can readily find what he seeks quickly—business news, machinery, tools, household goods, horses, dogs, cats, canaries, etc. They enable you to locate what you are looking for in short order. So in reading advertising do not overlook the classified columns—the individual advertisements do not take up much room, but like the meaty nut they may contain a big kernel in a small shell—just for you.

Read the advertisements for your own good . . . classified columns as well as display advertisements.

MISSION WORK REVIEWED BY UNITED W.M.S.

B.C. Conference Hears Interesting Address By Miss Archibald in Vancouver

Vancouver, March 28.—"Education in Missions" was the subject of an interesting address which Miss Archibald gave at the annual meeting of the British Columbia Branch of the United Church Women's Missionary Society on Thursday in the Chowan United Church. She referred to the early idea that the missionary must preach or heal in countries needing medical care and how teaching had to be introduced later.

The illustrated by conditions found in Trinidad have hopeless the task of reaching the population without education was, and strongly endorsed Christian education. Miss Archibald, who has been engaged in missionary work in Trinidad, is shortly returning to her work there.

REPORTS GIVEN

Mrs. A. E. Mitchell, Mrs. J. W. Borwick and Mrs. D. M. Stewart represented the Vancouver Physiological Society at the same meeting. Mrs. G. Wonder gave a report on literature explaining that it was through her department that missionary workers obtained supplies of play, new missionary books and literature.

The supplies needed in the missionary hospitals of British Columbia in the outposts and in the seedy city were also donated by the British Columbia branch, which department is known as the "Friendly Beast," stated Mrs. James Kerr in her report for the supply committee, while in the strangers' report Mrs. J. W. Saundy explained that their work is to see that courtesy and kindness is exercised to the stranger within our gates.

Mrs. J. Finn said that the library committee said that since the committee aims to place good reading material in all remote districts, and she also added that books and magazines had been circulated in many isolated places, chiefly throughout the missions along the coast and in the interior.

On account of Miss Sinclair's absence, the Rev. Mr. MacPherson, who was present by Mrs. MacPherson, who emphasized the value of getting women to become associate helpers if unable to join actively.

MISSIONARY SPEAKS

The press report was given by Mrs. J. A. Fairley and was followed by a report by the secretary of temperance read by Mrs. Conley. During the afternoon session Rev. R. J. McIntyre gave an address, while in the evening Dr. McRae, who has long been associated with the Foreign Missions in Korea, was the speaker. Rev. and Mrs. Edmunds, who sail on Dr. McRae on Saturday for China, were the guests of honor in the evening, and with Dr. McRae, were wished bon voyage by their many friends.

The report of the mission band was given by Mrs. C. S. Maharg, who stated the band was semi-professional and won the Armstrongs' group and that for the highest average giving one member by the Grand Forks band. She also told of the existence of eighty-eight bands in British Columbia, with a total membership of 2,325, 196 of which are juniors. The sum of $2,593 was raised during the year. $3,300 being given to the band treasurer. There are seven senior bands, she said, with a membership of 111.

Mrs. G. Wonder, who is voluntarily conducting the business of the Women's Missionary Society in conjunction with the Religious Education Council, presented the literature re-

YOUR BABY and MINE by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED.

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

UNDERFEEDING AND OVERFEEDING DISTINCT SYMPTOMS

One would imagine that the mother could easily decide whether her baby was underfed or overfed. Seemingly, however, her mind runs only in one direction. No matter what the obvious symptoms may be, the mother is more than likely to feel that he needs more food; while the baby who is actually starving is usually considered to be suffering from colic. We have never quite satisfied ourselves why this is so, but the overwhelming evidence of these all convince us that these are the facts.

The tiny baby, so new and puzzling to the mother anyway, offers her a constant problem. This is not quite true, whether he is underfed or not unless he eats and sleeps all day long. Sometimes even then she worries for fear he sleeps too much!

CRYING DOESN'T MEAN HUNGER

If he cries, she attributes it to hunger, and gives him more to eat. If he still cries she continues, unaware that crying is not a good sign of what is wrong with a child but only that something may be wrong. What that "something" is, she must decide by a process of elimination. Is he gaining as he should? Is he having too many no movements a day? Is he sleeping well in the daytime and staying awake half the night? Or is he awake most of the day and sleeping well during the night?

Large gains in weight usually indicate too much food. If, in addition, the baby is wakeful during the day and sleeps well at night (when he has his whole care).

Needless Suffering

The next time a headache makes you stay at home—

Or some other ache or pain prevents you keeping an engagement—

Remember Aspirin! For there is scarcely any sort of pain it cannot relieve, and relieve promptly.

These tablets give real relief, or millions would not continue to take them. They are quite harmless, or the medical profession would not constantly prescribe them.

Don't be a martyr to unnecessary pain. To colds that might so easily be checked; neuritis, neuralgia; to pains peculiar to women; or any suffering for which Aspirin is such an effective anti-dote.

You need not hesitate to take Aspirin. It is safe. It is always the same. It never depresses the heart, so use it as often as needed; but the cause of any pain can be treated only by a doctor.

YOUR CHILDREN

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

What is a "built-in" emotion or impulse in child behavior?

It is something a baby doesn't have in his make-up when he is born but we put there for him. Carpenter work—man-made!

For instance, a baby cries for his sister's doll. We give it to him. Ah! What has happened? We've laid down a good solid brick in our little wall.

He plays with the doll for a moment and we discover that he's pulled off a handful of hair. We jerk it away. He screams. "No, no, you're a bad boy. You can't have it," we tell him.

But he continues to scream.

"Oh, give it to him, Sister. Let him have it for another minute—by that time I'll put on his bonnet and coat stone. Let's take him out and he'll forget about it."

Back goes the doll. Sudden ceasing of sobs and gurgles of delight.

A whole row of bricks neatly cemented together in a nice straight line!

This wall is going to be a beauty!

After that, every time he sees it the baby starts to scream for it—and gets it.

"Oh, you might as well give it to him to keep, Sister. He likes it so well and it keeps him amused."

Half a story up:

A FAMILIAR SCENE

Another day baby sees us put on our hat. He gurgles and laughs. He's going for a walk.

We start out without him. He watches the front door closing. Oh, how he screams. We can't leave the poor baby that way. We come back and pat him and talk to him and kiss him and tell him we'll be soon back. We send him into a room where he can't see us slip out. But he knows that hat and what it means.

It's no go. We come back a second time. This time we give in. "Run up and get his things to take him. I am just going to sit here anyway."

"Ain't little bairns! Hims wants to go by-bye wif him's mumsy!"

Baby all hatted and coated and ready to go is now purring like ten kittens.

Another wall of our smart new pen begins.

The next day we repeat the process of trying to have baby and falling and the next, and the next, and the next.

Baby walls!

Scrub walls a dark room. We forgive overcooked and crusty walls and stain stuff soon. Drain and remove stones.

Mix cheese with nuts and enough cream to make moist. Fill prunes with mixture and serve on a bed of lettuce hearts with French dressing.

Another wall!

Bruins Outclass Maroons To Gain Place In Finals

EIGH MILLER, whose sensational victories over Jack Eider, George Simpson and other United States crack have caused Canadian sports writers to hail him as a worthy running mate to Percy Williams, double Olympic sprint winner in 1928, learned running fundamentals in high school at Halifax.

It was in the fall of 1927 that Miller was given the opportunity of displaying his wares before the Maritimes. The Halifax Chronicle sent Miller to the Canadian championships at Toronto that year. Miller did not win a medal, but he made a splendid showing. Previous to the Olympic trials in 1928, he was invited to run a trial train under the watchful eye of Bobby Kerr, a Canadian Olympic winner in 1908. Miller failed to place on the Canadian team, of which Percy Williams was the outstanding man, but his showing in the trials attracted attention and the Maritime athlete was offered a position with the Hounds. During the summer of 1929 Miller started the world, when he raced the 100 yards in 9.35 seconds, tying the world's record, at Picton, Nova Scotia.

During the summer of 1929 Miller started the world, when he raced the 100 yards in 9.35 seconds, tying the world's record, at Picton, Nova Scotia.

Shortly after his great run at Picton, Miller went to Hamilton to reside. At that time he was "shy" and not good at starting. The majority of his victories came through his driving speed in the stretch, although he had a bad habit of "shying" at the tape. When Miller joined the Hamilton Olympic Club he was placed under the watchful eye of Percy Williams, who was not long before his starting speed became noticeable, and many things were predicted of the "Maritime flyer."

Last year, in preference to attending the Canadian championships at Banff, Miller joined the Hounds at Picton, the scores of the record-breaking year before, and easily defeated the cream of New England college sprinters. Before the outdoor season closed he distinguished himself in Toronto and Hamilton meets. During the indoor season of 1930 Miller came into his own. He has now a world indoor sprint record and an amateur has been lined up for meets during the summer with some of the outstanding sprint men from the United States.

Nova Scotia yachtsmen are keenly interested in a bit of boat building now going on at the yards of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, Victoria, B.C. At these yards William Ogle, master builder of the R.C.Y.C., is constructing the 8-metre Norseman, one of three candidates for selection as challenger for the famous Canada's Cup, now held by the Rochester Yacht Club, of Rochester, N.Y.

The Norseman's interest is due to the fact that the Norseman has been designed by W. J. Reid, Halifax naval architect. Mr. Rouse won honor for himself and his Province when the Lunenburg schooner Bluenose, built to his design, first captured the International Fishermen's Trophy back in 1929. Norseman still retains the title of undefeated champion fishing schooner of the North Atlantic. Nova Scotians hope that what Rouse has done in international racing with a fishing schooner he will repeat with a yacht.

Norseman, who will compete at Picton this summer with two other 8-metre boats, built from the blueprints of two famous Old Country designers — Fife and Nicholson — for the right to challenge for the Canada's Cup, which has not been raced for in some years, but has become one of the big-ribbon trophy of yacht racing on the Great Lakes, and in international racing ranks next in importance to the America's Cup and the Seawanhaka Cup.

Norseman, designed in Halifax and building in Toronto, is the all-Canadian boat. The Ontario Government is now being completed at the Oakville Yacht Works, Oakville, Ont. Her keel, back-beam, deck-beams and some of her frames came over from Fairlie, Vinton, from the drafting board of Nicholson, designer of Sunrock. V. Sir Thomas Lipton's latest challenge for America's Cup, is now being built at Gosport, England, and will be shipped as a complete yacht to Canada early this summer. All three yachts have been ordered by a Royal Canadian Yacht Club syndicate headed by Commodore George H. Goodwin.

When the three come together at Toronto for their trials, Nova Scotian yachtsmen, while wishing the other two all sorts of luck, will pin their faith in the little Bluenose. Norseman's dimensions are 48 feet overall, 30 feet waterline, 4 feet 4 inches beam. Marconi-rigged, she will spread 855 feet of canvas. The Nicholson boat will be a little narrower and the Fife craft some inches shorter than Rouse's sloop. Norseman's keelson is of oak, her frames of American rock elm and her planking of Honduras mahogany.

Rouse's yachts are not unknown on the Great Lakes. His R-class sloop Arctic, built at Baddeck, N.S., two years ago by F. W. (Casey) Baldwin, son-in-law of the late Alexander Graham Bell, for Commodore Gooderham, has done nobly at Toronto. She made a good showing in international racing on the Lakes some years ago and in several seasons won the championship of her class in the R.C.Y.C.

McLarnin, designed in Halifax and building in Toronto, is the all-Canadian boat. The Ontario Government is now being completed at the Oakville Yacht Works, Oakville, Ont. Her keel, back-beam, deck-beams and some of her frames came over from Fairlie, Vinton, from the drafting board of Nicholson, designer of Sunrock. V. The Nicholson boat will be a little narrower and the Fife craft some inches shorter than Rouse's sloop. Norseman's keelson is of oak, her frames of American rock elm and her planking of Honduras mahogany.

Rouse's yachts are not unknown on the Great Lakes. His R-class sloop Arctic, built at Baddeck, N.S., two years ago by F. W. (Casey) Baldwin, son-in-law of the late Alexander Graham Bell, for Commodore Gooderham, has done nobly at Toronto. She made a good showing in international racing on the Lakes some years ago and in several seasons won the championship of her class in the R.C.Y.C.

McLarnin, designed in Halifax and building in Toronto, is the all-Canadian boat. The Ontario Government is now being completed at the Oakville Yacht Works, Oakville, Ont. Her keel, back-beam, deck-beams and some of her frames came over from Fairlie, Vinton, from the drafting board of Nicholson, designer of Sunrock. V. Sir Thomas Lipton's latest challenge for America's Cup, is now being built at Gosport, England, and will be shipped as a complete yacht to Canada early this summer. All three yachts have been ordered by a Royal Canadian Yacht Club syndicate headed by Commodore George H. Goodwin.

When the three come together at Toronto for their trials, Nova Scotian yachtsmen, while wishing the other two all sorts of luck, will pin their faith in the little Bluenose. Norseman's dimensions are 48 feet overall, 30 feet waterline, 4 feet 4 inches beam. Marconi-rigged, she will spread 855 feet of canvas. The Nicholson boat will be a little narrower and the Fife craft some inches shorter than Rouse's sloop. Norseman's keelson is of oak, her frames of American rock elm and her planking of Honduras mahogany.

FINALS IN TOURNAMENT ON TO-NIGHT

Leiper and Scrogs to Meet McMillan and Nelson For Doubles Championship

Nelson Favorite For Singles
Honors; Close Games Feature Carpet Tourney

With all but semi-finalists eliminated from further play, this evening's closing round in the Capital City and district carpet bowing tournament at the Crystal Garden promises to bring out some of the closest matches seen throughout the year are expected to be witnessed.

Yesterday evening Leiper and Scrogs won their way to the finals in the men's doubles class after victory over Currie and Hawes. As a result of their win, they will meet McMillan and Nelson in the championship fixture this evening.

In the singles division Nelson entered the semi-finals by sending Hawes down to a 21-11 defeat. Tonight he will meet Leiper for the right to play Mitchell for the title. Nelson, last year's winner, is a strong favorite for the honor.

STRONG CONTENDER

Mitchell yesterday climbed to the semi-final rung in the single championship ladder with a 21-16 victory over Campion. Groutage, who beat Cruickshanks, one of the stronger men in the division, was eliminated from further play by Mitchell late in the evening by a 21-11 count.

The good news is that between McMillan and McCaughey in the novices' singles, both have shown good form during the tourney and should furnish keen competition for one another in the deciding match.

This evening the most successful tournament in the history of the association will come to an end. When the tourney was opened by His Worship Mayor Anscomb, seventeen days ago, one of the largest entry lists of the annual event started competing for the titles.

The tourney continued from one day to another in all the events, with the favorites coming through and novices and veterans dropping by the wayside. Tonight will mark the terminating of another Capital City and district meet.

During the early part of April the season will come to an end with the grand finale in the way of a banquet and distribution of trophies.

Yesterday evening's results and tonight's draw follow:

Championship Singles
Mitchell 21, Campion 16.
Nelson 21, Hawes 13.
Cruickshanks 16, Groulx 21.
Mitchell 21, Groutage 18.

Open Doubles
Leiper and Scrogs 17, Currie and Hawes 14.

TO-NIGHT'S DRAW
Championship Singles
Leiper and Nelson, table 2, at 7.15. Winner of this match will meet Mitchell for title on same table.

Novice Singles
McMartin vs. McCaughey, table 1, at 7.30. For novice singles title.

Open Doubles
Leiper and Scrogs vs. McMillan and Nelson, table 2, at 7.30.

IS SICK AGAIN

RENE LACOSTE

Paris, March 28.—Still in poor health, Rene Lacoste is lost to French tennis for this season and his marriage to Mlle. Simone Thion de la Chambre, golf champion, has been indefinitely postponed. The wedding, originally planned for January 10, was postponed until April some time ago.

The last twenty minutes of his five-set match against Jean Borodet in the finals of the French handball championships last May were played in a cold driving rain. Lacoste won, but caught a bad cold which invaded his bronchial tubes.

Eene immediately withdrew from tennis and returned to the Basque country near Biarritz. His improvement has been slow.

Sammy Sivertz and Art Spriston in Semi-finals at Provincial Championships

New Westminster, March 28.—Fred Leoffler, of the Victoria Y.M.C.A., was crowned amateur bantamweight wrestling champion of the province when he took two straight falls from Gordon Shaw of the Vancouver Y.M.C.A. in the only final on yesterday evening's provincial boxing and wrestling championships programme here.

Other bouts on yesterday evening's programme were semi-finals, with the other finals being scheduled for to-night.

Deep Sea and Coastwise Transportation

Nine New Steamers Coming This Year To Cost $27,000,000

First of New Passenger Fleet, Ss. Princess Elizabeth, Will Arrive Here Next Month; Other Ships Include Three "Prince" Steamers, Three Japanese Liners, and 25,000-ton Empress Liner.

With the coming of spring Victoriaans interested in ships and shipping are looking forward to the arrival here of nine new passenger steamers, five for service in the coastal waters of British Columbia and four for service on the Pacific Ocean between ports in the Orient and Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle. Three of the new ships are for the Canadian National Railways, three for the Canadian Pacific Railway and three for the Nippon Yusen Kaisha. Commencing with the arrival here next month of the Princess Elizabeth there will be one or two new boats here every month until September.

The first of the new ships, the Princess Elizabeth left Scotland yesterday for Victoria and will arrive here towards the end of April to enter the night service between Victoria and Vancouver. She will be followed shortly afterwards by her sister ship, the Princess Joan, which will arrive here sometime in May to enter the same service. Both ships will be the finest of their class and are specially built for the service which they will maintain. They will have night accommodation for 400 passengers and day accommodation for 1,500 passengers. Capt. C. C. Sainty is bringing the Princess Elizabeth to the coast.

The Prince Henry will be the first Canadian-National steamer to arrive on the coast. She is expected towards the end of June, and will enter service between Vancouver and Alaska on July 1. The Prince George, which has been laid up since last October, will arrive here in July, and will enter service on a tri-city route between Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle on July 28, using the Canadian National piers in the inner harbor, which are now being reconstructed. The third of the C.N.R. boats, the Prince David, will arrive before the end of the summer and will maintain a service opposite to the one supplied by the Prince Robert.

The largest of the new steamers arriving here this year will be the new ocean liner Empress of Japan, which will be commissioned on the Orient-Victoria-Vancouver run. She is now being completed in Scotland, and before coming to the Pacific she will make a round trip to the Atlantic between Southampton and Quebec. On her return to England she will leave for Victoria and Vancouver, traveling by way of the Mediterranean, the Suez Canal and the Straits Settlements, the Philippines, China and Japan, arriving here on August 28. The second steamer, the Hiyu, will be the largest white liner on the Pacific, and the finest passenger liner on the western ocean. She will have accommodation for nearly 2,000 passengers in all classes, and will make the crossing from Yokohama in less than nine days. She is 25,000 tons.

JAPANESE LINERS

Interest also centres around the new Japanese motor liners which will arrive before the end of the year in the N.Y.K. service. The first of the three new steamers, the Hikawa Maru, will arrive here on her maiden voyage on May 28. The second steamer, the Hiyu Maru, will be at Victoria on June 1, and the third will arrive towards the end of the year. These ships will set a new standard in passenger accommodation on Japanese liners, and will carry tourist cabin, the only ships, in addition to the Siberia Maru and the Korea Maru, to carry such a class on the Pacific Ocean. They will also have accommodation for first class and steerage passengers as well as will be patterned after the larger motor liners Asama Maru, Chichibu Maru and Tatsuta Maru, which have created such a sensation on the California-Orient route.

The steamer Ss. Princess Mary, Princess Patricia and Lillooet, all tied up along the Bay Street plant of the Victoria Machinery Depot for overhaul and repairs.

Old-time "Rags" At Oxford Were The Real Things

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London, March 28.—University students' "rags" nowadays are genteel in comparison with those of medieval universities, which usually took the form of violent attacks upon the townsmen. They collected patients for hospitals rather than collected for patients in hospital.

These assaults were not mere undergraduate follies, but were supported and even led by university officials.

On a March night of 1326 an Oxford proctor "sat upon a block in the street before the shoppe of one Robert Germyn, a barber, having a pole-axe in his hand, a black cloak on his back," and organized a riot in which many townsmen were "stricken down and sore beaten."

The proctor and his companions threatened to burn down the houses.

Of twenty-nine coroners' inquests in Oxford which have been preserved for the period 1297-1322, no less than thirteen are for murders committed by scholars. Rashdale notes that in the majority of cases they were suitably punished—they were sent to Cambridge!

Of the stories which are told of the ignorance of famous places in London exhibited by the London people, the following should not be omitted. A seasoned cockney, acting as guide to a provincial friend, stopped at the Parliament Square end of Whitehall and remarked, "You see those two buildings? Well, one is the House of Parliament and the other is Westminster Abbey. Which is which? I don't know. But I do know that round this corner there is a little 'pub' where they sell the best beer in London. Come on!"

NEWS IN BRIEF

Ward Three Saanich Ratepayers' Association will hold its monthly meeting on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the hall on Tyndale Avenue.

D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway in charge of western lines, is leaving the city by the night boat for Vancouver en route to Winnipeg.

A proposal for an excursion to Salt Spring Island by the remodeled teamster Princess Victoria on June 7 is to be considered by a special committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Charles Campbell, charged with acting as a real estate agent without a license, was granted a remand until next Thursday in the City Police Court this morning. G. Cameron appeared for the Crown.

Col. C. W. Villiers, of the Canadian Carries Limited, addressed the annual meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, to be held shortly, in an action by the owners of the Christy-Hall building against Smith Bros. & Wilson, contractors for the new Kresge block, at Douglas and Fort Streets.

The election committee of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce for 1930 was named to-day as follows: F. R. Brown, chairman; J. V. Johnson, A. P. Chapman, Jr., J. H. Hickey, T. G. O. MacKay, J. M. McLean, W. E. McLean, A. Lyons, Clarence Oliver, Arthur Jones, T. P. McConnell, W. B. Wilson and T. E. Lampman.

Extension of the Cordova Bay water line to serve the Victoria and Esquimalt and Wesley Avenue, overlooking Elk Lake, was sought by a well-signed petition before the Saanich Council yesterday evening. When informed that a booster pump and reservoir would have to be incorporated in the extension the council called for an estimate of the cost.

Burnside Park, in Ward Seven, will be drained at a cost of $1,500, the Saanich Council last night voting $1,000 from general revenue, the remainder of the cost being provided from the road appropriation of Ward Seven. Councillor Eden made a strong appeal for the assistance, pointing out that the aid sought was the first grant asked by his ward in many years, while he had supported many special grants to other districts.

Alfred Carmichael, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee on the proposed auditorium and skating rink, reported to the directors of the chamber to-day on his recent interview with D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railways, regarding the extension of western lines. Mr. Coleman, while not committing the company to the project, had agreed to submit the plans to the board of directors at Montreal.

Written argument is to be presented by counsel in the action of Mrs. E. A. Fleming against the B.C. Bond Corporation, which is based on the Dominion's claim of growth in hydro-electric power, pulp and paper manufacturing and in all important branches of agriculture coupled with vigorous and successful competition in world markets. Favoring Lord Beaverbrook's scheme for Empire free trade, Earl Roslyn said he could not help but feel such a plan would work to the ultimate good of all British na-

"I am yet to be disillusioned concerning Canada's future. Until I am disillusioned, which I trust will be never, I shall continue to regard this Dominion as the greatest and most promising within the Empire," declared James Erskine, who is the Earl of Rosslyn, British author, war correspondent, soldier and sportsman who was in Victoria yesterday on his way to Ottawa and Montreal.

He arrived on the R.M.S. Aorangi from Honolulu. The British Earl's family in Canada is based on the Dominion's rapid growth in hydro-electric power, pulp and paper, manufacturing and in all important branches of agriculture coupled with vigorous and successful competition in world markets. Favoring Lord Beaver-brook's scheme for Empire free trade,

Earl Roslyn said he could not help but feel such a plan would work to the ultimate good of all British na-

"I have always taken an interest in this country. In fact it was through efforts for the Crown in Nova Scotia that my ancestors first won titles from

King James I, and now, my eldest son is about to take a position with a Canadian trust company, thus, as you throw me in with the rest of this young country," he said.

The Earl recently toured the United States. He intimated his present trip to eastern Canada might result in formation of a Canadian company to engage in paint manufacturing on an exclusive Canadian patent.

The quartette will play at the Empress Hotel to-night, the programme being as follows:

(a) Irish Air (b) Sally in Our Alley

(c) Cherry Ripe (d) Saint Malo.

Ernest MacMillan Quartette "Biscay". John B. McEwan

Nothing can be done by the Saanich

Council to prevent Hindus from residing in any district where they may purchase or rent property.

On Friday evening, informed

Councillor F. J. Crowhurst of Ward

Two. The matter was laid before the council as a result of many complaints registered by property owners.

A garbage collection service would be instituted if the people of the ward were willing to pay the cost, the Reeve stated, when Councillor Crowhurst asked for a local improvement by-law.

The Toronto musicians, Geza De

smone, violin; Harry Aspinwall, second violin; Morton Gluckstein, cello;

and Boris Hanover, piano, achieved another notable triumph here and will appear in Victoria Friday night in the ballroom of the Empress Hotel to present the programme which delighted

Vancouver music-lovers.

In addition to old traditional British music the quartette are using for their second number, songs in four different variations, the composition of

Frederick Delius, the blind British composer recently honored in London musical circles.

The quartette will play at the Empress Hotel to-night, the programme being as follows:

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

Winnipeg, March 28.—Wheat: The wheat market was extremely dull and narrow to-day with nothing of feature going on. Offerings were very light, and with a little local and commission house buying, the market was able to hold firm with prices mostly about 10 higher than the previous close, although high at times.

Buenos Ayres wheat was again very small, total being not more than 300,000 bushels so far as could be confirmed, this business being done by the pool via New York, while the pool reported no business accepted.

Liverpool was firmer than due, and Buenos Ayres was unchanged at present. The local market is believed to be pretty well entered up and few care to make new commitments over the week end, especially with private reports due Tuesday on winter wheat conditions.

The heavy freeze forecast for Kansas last night evidently did not take effect, although a few degrees of frost were recorded. The weather appears to be increasing from western Kansas and Oklahoma, and minor rains are received during the next week or two there will be cause for anxiety.

At present no real damage has taken place. There was a good demand from millers and shippers for all grades cash wheat. Look for a two-sided market, preferring a buying position on the dips.

Coffee grains: These markets were all firm higher, following the trend of wheat. There was a little short covering and a little speculative buying of rye, but offerings were very light. Demand for all cash grains was very slow.

Flax: Dull and featureless.

Branson, Brown & Co. Limited

Chicago, March 28.—Wheat: General tone has been firm at Chicago and Winnipeg and Liverpool were also quite steady. Buyers abroad are report ed still reluctant to buy freely, but millers were reported moderate buyers, and the fact that Argentine shippers were said to be buying in hedges at Liverpool was considered rather insignificant.

Buying to-day here was partly by commission houses and partly by shorts, the latter being nervous over the continued drought conditions in the southwest and the relatively firm cables.

North American clearances picked up compared with last week, with total 800,000 bushels wheat and flour.

Cash demand was moderate with acre of $65,000 bushels and basis steady a little lower. Weather mainly fair and forecast also good weather. The market is pretty well balanced and look for good export reports this week.

Castor—Trade and tone somewhat special feature, cash demand moderate. Receipts were a little larger at sixty cars. Market would do better with any encouragement from other grains.

Rye: Was strong with wheat except for the March, which was inclined to lag.

The fee for executors.

For proving your Will and acting as trustee of your family's inheritance, an executor receives a small percentage of the capital of the estate. And there is a small charge for collecting the annual income.

The corporate executor, because of its experience and permanence, is eminently qualified to administer estates. The Canada Trust Company is allowed no higher fee than is allowed to an individual executor. The fee, in either case, is fixed by the Court.

Consultation with our officers about the cost of administering your estate involves no obligation.

COCO COLA RISES 10%

low at 34¢ and Sears Roebuck fell off from 86¢ to 82¢.

American Locomotive sold at its year's low at 80 and then firmed at 85. COPPERS RISE AGAIN

Anaconda continued strong, reaching 78¢, while American Smelters was up to 77. Granby moved up from 58¢ to 59½.

MOTORS STRONG

There was a big buying move in Autocar, which reached 25¢.

General Motors again got above 80.

American Telephones was again a voluminous trade, with the stock rising from 25¢ to 25½¢.

International Telephone gained a couple of points.

U.S. Steel common traded between 19½¢ and 19¾¢.

From 47½¢, Radio Corporation suddenly recovered itself and sold up 5¢.

LATE SPURT IN RAILS

In the last hour, Chesapeake and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio, Western Maryland, Kansas City, Southern and Chicago Great Western preferred, moved into new high ground on gains of from 3¢ to 6¢ a share.

RADIO EARNINGS LOW

New York, March 28.—Radio Corporation report is expected within a few days, and even if it shows only $1.60 figures will be no surprise. It is to be noted that the appearance of these figures will develop fresh selling in the stock.

REMINGTON RAND PROFITS GROW

New York, March 28.—The fiscal year ended March 31, Remington Rand, it is estimated, earned approximately $8.80 on the common stock, against the current dividend rate of $1.60. It is believed now that the stock has developed an earning power of $4 a share.

TIME FOR CAUTION

New York, March 28.—The Wall Street Mirror to-day issued the following to its clients:

"Further advance should be seen in the stock market, but it cannot be denied that it is time for caution in the making of market commitments. There has been an enormous amount of profit-taking this week, and it is often in this it is known that there has been some excellent buying in certain directions. It is now considered advisable that if profits are not taken that they be protected with stop-loss orders.

"The Utilities are still being bought by the 'right' people. Most of the public utilities are showing steady improvement in earnings, while those in natural gas properties will do much better. One story now heard about Electric Power & Light is that it will be taken into Electric Bond & Share on a share for share basis.

HEAVY BUYING

Some of the motor accessories were heavily bought, particularly Electra-Lite Auto Lite and Timken Neeler Bearing.

The market moved irregularly higher under the influence of yesterday's unexpected decrease in brokers' loans and on signs of improving business conditions.

TO-DAY'S NEW LOWS

Weakness cropped out in the baking and merchandising shares, several of which sagged to 1930 lows. Montgomery Ward dropped to a new low at 34¢ and Sears Roebuck fell off from 86¢ to 82¢.

Coca-Cola rose 10% to 77¢.

Others to make new highs to-day included Warner Bros., which went up 40 points to 80½¢; Electric Power and Light, which from 61 made 63¢.

Heavy buying was resumed in the utilities and railroads in the final hour, with the stocks which had come up with the market. New York Central, Chesapeake and Ohio, Erie, New Haven, Union Pacific and other transportation shares spurred one to four points.

The Princess and the Perjurer

Allan Hillgarth

"It does indeed," agreed Nina. "Now, about—she sank her voice to a whisper—"about the gold—"

"Sokolov nodded vigorously.

"In half an hour," he said, "and I've picked a hundred men, all of whom are Russians and all personally known to me. They are at your disposal, when you want them. I'll give you a list presently. Some of them work on plantations just outside the town, but the majority are employed in various capacities within it. Others—them—will be here to-day." He chuckled. "Cars or wagons are difficult to secure, since none are allowed to pass the confines of the town, but I've marked off a number in the country that can be seized very quietly and very quickly. So you see you have only to tell us when—"

"Good!" said Nina. "Now, we shall have to wait here for some weeks; information will come through you, of course. I'm writing—working."

"Perfectly. I had to leave it outside the town, because the police are inquisitive, but it's quite safe now, and I get messages every day. They are brought in every morning—often if necessary."

"Good!" said Nina again.

"There's to be a big meeting tomorrow night," went on Sokolov. "If you decide to attend, it will be quite safe. I shall conduct you myself. There are several ways out of this building."

"We shall probably be there," said Nina, "but I can't speak with certainty at the moment. You understand that we don't want to run the slightest risk."

"I know, I know! But I can answer for to-morrow. I'll come here at nine o'clock, so that you can go with me or not as you wish."

Soon afterwards he left, promising to let us know of any noteworthy developments, and we went out to lunch, which we took at a cellar restaurant at the corner of the main street. There were few people there, and no one took much notice of us. The town was full of so many different races and such varied costumes, besides a number of extremely pretty women, that even my companion's good looks and my rather conspicuously clean uniform excited no remark. I noticed several specimens of a sensible breed, the speculators who seemed to disappear in the Caucasus these days. They were all either Jews, Armenians or Greeks, and they made fortunes rapidly by trading in luxuries, exploiting Georgian Army contracts or playing with the exchange. I was amused—and, in a way, saddened—to notice that our very advanced—indeed, to say nothing of our—countrymen, helped out with Caucasian wine, cost us about ten cents each, reckoned in English money. And thousands were starving in Batumi.

As we were leaving the restaurant we met Sokolov, plodding along through the snow in the road. He saw us but gave no sign of recognition and passed with his head down and his shoulders bent. He had no overcoat and looked blue with cold. I reflected that the high-heeled part he was playing had its element of discomfort.

About four o'clock, wearing my best clothes, I set out to call on General Mavani. Nina announced her intention of staying at "home."

The Military Governor of Batumi lived in a large house on the outskirts of the town. I took a dray and, as some attempt had been made to clear the snow from the streets, I was long in getting there. The houses, solidly built stone erection, stood in its own garden behind a high wall, and I found it by no means easy to gain an audience. The Georgian sentry, a ferocious-looking individual, held me off from the gate with his bayonet at my chest. As a Russian I was, of course, regarded with suspicion, and the sentry produced no effect. However, eventually I got inside to be met by an aside-de-camp, who, on learning of my reasons for wishing to see the general, was more cordial than the sentry. A little later I found myself grasping the hand of the general himself.

He was a tall, thin man, somewhere in the fifties, with a singularly handsome if rather swarthy face, jet black eyes, and a clear, resonant voice. Despite his rather ornate uniform, he looked a very practical soldier, so, indeed, he should, for his reputation in the old Imperial Army had stood high.

To my joy he thought he recognized me at once. Leading me to the window, he looked me up and down appreciatively, his face all smiles and suddenly he embraced me. Some what confused, I was placed in a chair, while he drew up one facing me and began to talk. He told me he had heard I was dead, then that I marched into the steppe with Kornilov and was with Kornilov. That was more than two years ago, and since then he had heard of me several times, riding with Denikin's forces in the Caucasus. Afterwards he had heard nothing, but supposed me to be with Wrangel, if I lived.

"And so," he said, looking at my epaulettes, "you were a colonel when the end came? I wonder where and what the other officers of our old regiment are? Dead? I'm afraid, most of them. These are sad days—rather different from those we last spent together, when you were my junior lieutenant." He sighed, then brightened. "Tell me about yourself. Where have you been and what doing?"

I told him a vague story about the last campaign of the Volunteer Army and the fall of the Crimea. The main facts were, of course, common knowledge, and I had heard many of the details in Constantinople, so I couldn't go far wrong.

"Ah!" he said, when I finished. "It is a sad tragedy, though it was a gallant adventure. You have played a man's part. Your Uncle Vasilevitch, and your father, would be alive and be proud of the manner in which you, the last of the family, have maintained the honor of a great name."

So much had I fallen into the part of my cousin, that, as the general said this, I felt thoroughly ashamed of myself. Stepan Ouspinsky must have been about the meanest provocateur that ever lived. He had fought for the tsar, the tsar's armies, serving in trusted positions, and then the tsar had been busy betraying his friends.

I had an extraordinary impulse to burst out with the truth. I felt that General Mavani was an honest man and would help me. If I told him who I was, what manner of man Ouspinsky was, in fact, the whole story, he would be bound to aid me. I nearly did it, yet something held me back. Perhaps he wouldn't believe me. I would think I was mad. Anyway, better to wait a little.

"What is it?" asked Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "That's not anything like that. Besides, this isn't the same kind of a tree."

"This is a maple tree and not a pussy willow," answered the rabbit gentlemen.

"And why are you breaking off a branch of the maple tree?" Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy asked, looking at the rabbit. "Are you going to whip the carpet?"

"No," chuckled Uncle Wiggily, "the carpet isn't quite bad enough yet, for me to whip it. I am breaking off this branch to see if the spring juice, or sap, is running in the maple trees. And it is, as I can tell, for, see it yourself."

He pointed to the place where he had broken off the branch and from the jagged end a white juice, like water, dripped out of the tree.

"Oh, ho!" squeaked Nurse Jane. "The maple sap is running! That means it is time to begin making maple sugar; doesn't it, Mr. Longears?"

"Indeed it does!" answered the rabbit. "I am a bit late this year in making my maple sugar. But, better late than never. I shall now tap this tree, gather the sap and boil it into syrup and sugar. Then you can have pancakes. Nurse Jane, and I'll cover them with maple syrup and eat them."

"I'm afraid we'll have to wait for the maple sap to run again," said Nurse Jane. "But there is one thing you must do before you can make any maple sugar."

"What is it?" the rabbit wanted to know.

"You must first get a small wooden tub, or a large wooden pail, in which to catch the maple tree juice as it runs. You must also make a hole in the tree. We haven't a wooden tub that will do but I think Mrs. Twits-tail, the lady hoghousekeeper, has one."

"I'll hop over there and borrow her tub to catch my maple sap in," offered Uncle Wiggily. "You get out my tool box, Nurse Jane. If you please, and when I come back I'll bore a hole in the tree, and then we'll start boiling."

It did not take Uncle Wiggily long to hop over to the pen of the lady pig.

"Borrow a wooden tub?" she grunted. "Why, of course, Uncle Wiggily. And it's very kind of you to say you'll have everything ready for me—some of the maple sugar when you have it ready. Here's the tub."

She pointed to a large one and Uncle Wiggily found the best way to carry it to his bungalow was to put it over his head and shoulders like a big hat. No, I don't mean he put his bungalow over his head, just the empty tub, which he turned upside down.

Uncle Wiggily went into his home, taking a short cut the sooner to get there when, as he was within sight of the duck pond, all of a sudden the rabbit gentleman looked behind him, from beneath the tub on his head, and he saw the Fuzzy Fox chasing him.

"Oh, ho!" thought Mr. Longears. "So the Bad Chap is after me! It is he! Well, I'll fool him! I'll keep this tub over my head and he will think I am a Chinese laundry and he won't bother me."

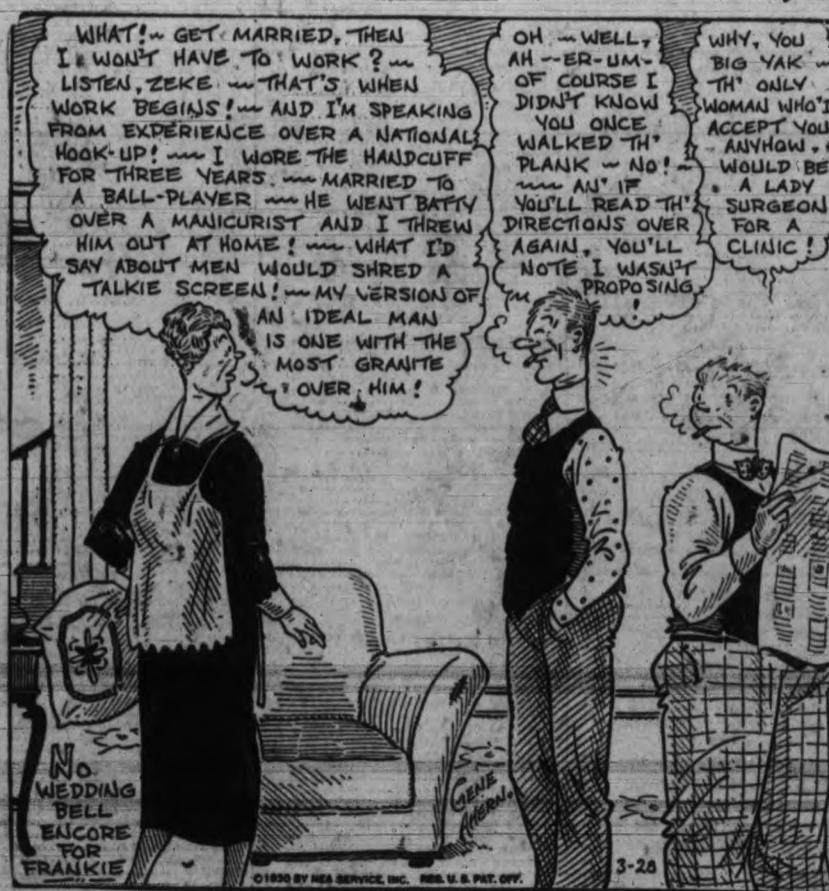

But the tub didn't fool the Fox. He knew Uncle Wiggily was under it and on came the Bad Chap faster than ever.

"Dear me! I must run!" cried Uncle Wiggily. He ran but so did the Fox. "I must run faster!" said Mr. Longears. So he did, but the Fox also ran fast and at last Uncle Wiggily reached the edge of the duck pond. To go around it would be too long. The Fox would catch him. So what did Uncle Wiggily do? He took the big wooden tub off his head and put it in the water? No, I don't mean he put his head in the water; he put the tub in the water. Then Uncle Wiggily jumped in.

I mean he jumped in the floating tub, not in the water. And there he had a funny boat in which he paddled, with his hands, all across the duck pond and soon he was safe on the other side for the Fox had made the Fuzzy Fox didn't dare swim over. So Mr. Longears was saved by his funny boat. And if the coffee pot will let Uncle Wiggily get out in the rain and make a mud pie for breakfast, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's maple sugar.

NATIONAL BROADCASTERS' PROGRAMME

One day Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy saw Uncle Wiggily reach up and break a small branch off a tree growing in front of his hollow stump Bum-Bum.

"What are you doing, Mr. Longears?" asked the muskrat lady housekeeper. "Are you looking to see if any more buds are going to turn into pussy willows and then a little cat?"

"Hello! Ho! Indeed!" answered Mr. Longears, laughing as he thought of what had happened the night before as I told you in the story before this. How Bob Osborne thought she heard a real cat mewing in Uncle Wiggily's pussy willow bush, and how Nurse Jane thought maybe it was the Bob Cat. But the Police Dog found that it was only Little Purr, the baby sister of Tommie Kat, who had gotten up in the pussy willow tree and couldn't get down.

"No," said Uncle Wiggily to Nurse Jane. "This isn't anything like that. Besides, this isn't the same kind of a tree."

How to Test a Girl Before Marriage

A YOUNG MAN asks: "How can a chap find out before marriage whether a girl will make a good wife or not?" You can't, son. Marriage is one of the things that is not governed by any law of cause or effect, and that defies all logic and reason. Even experience counts for nothing in it, for a three-times "dowser" is just as likely to be a bad picker as an adolescent boy. You cannot say "do this" or "do that" in marriage and you will make a success of it, or "choose this one" or "that one" and you will be happy. For to every rule for attaining matrimonial bliss there are a million exceptions. You simply pay your money for your wedding ring and take your chances.

There are, however, certain signs and portents that will tip a man off to the kind of wife a girl is likely to make, and wise is the youth who heeds them. The first and most important of these is the girl's mother, and canny and forward-looking is the youth who gives that lady the once over before he pops the question to Arabella.

For in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, what mother is at middle age Arabella will be at forty-five. The way mother keeps house will be the way Arabella keeps house. Mother's attitude toward domesticity will be Arabella's way of looking at family life. And, above all, the way mother treats father will be the way Arabella will treat her husband.

For in the case of a girl and her mother, both heredity and environment have a chance to do their perfect work. Mother not only probably transmitted to Arabella the Jones's temper or the Smith's amability, but hers was the hand that molded the plastic character of the baby girl into the shape it would carry through life. Hers was the influence that formed the ideals that were to guide Arabella and make her a blessing or a curse to her husband.

So it will pay any young man, who is casting a favorable eye upon a pretty young girl, to get acquainted with her mother before he commits himself. If he finds that mother is intelligent and wide awake and broadminded and tolerant in her views and an interesting companion to spend an evening with, then he may safely go forward and tie up with Arabella for life. For the odds are that Arabella will have plenty of sense and that she has been accustomed from her infancy up to reading and keeping up with all that is going on in the world, and to according everyone the privilege of his own opinion without argument or discussion.

But if, on the other hand, mother is narrow and bigoted and cocksure that she is always right and her way is the only way, and if she is dull and stupid and boring to talk to, then a man takes a foolhardy risk if he espouses Arabella. For she is almost sure to be a dead ringer to mother and make one of the petty tyrants who hempeck their husbands to extinction and with whom one cannot differ on the slightest point without starting something.

Same way about housekeeping. Like mother, like daughter. If mother is a thrifty manager and a crackjack housekeeper, then daughter is pretty sure to know how to run a house on a schedule and how to feed her husband and children properly. She has been brought up in an atmosphere of orderliness and neatness and she cannot sit down in comfort in an untidy room. Also, she has been taught how to cook and she regards cooking as an art instead of looking upon it as a drudgery.

But if a girl has been brought up in a slovenly house where nobody ever sweeps under the beds, or washes a dish until it is needed, where meals are never on time, where money is wasted and half of father's income goes into the garbage can, then she is very likely to keep the same sort of house that mother did simply because she has learned idle and wasteful and untidy habits in her childhood.

And observe closely mother's attitude toward her husband, son. If mother is solicitous of his comfort; if she caters to his little whims; if she is companionable with him; if she shows him in a thousand ways that she loves him and appreciates him, then grab Arabella and rush with her to the nearest parson. She will be like mother, a wife whose price is above rubies. For mother's example has taught her how to treat a husband. Never hesitate to marry a girl whose father looks happy and jolly and contented around home.

But beware of marrying a girl whose father is a meek, suppressed, downtrodden man who sneaks about his own house with an apologetic air, and who goes shabby while his wife and the girls are dressed like Solomon in all his glory. Mother has regarded her husband as nothing but a slave to work and earn money for her, and so will Arabella regard you if you marry her.

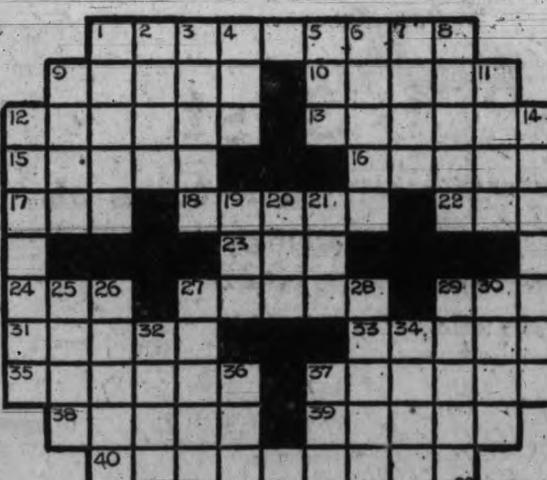

There is only one exception from this rule of judging a girl by her mother, and that is when the daughter disapproves so much of her mother that she swings to the opposite extreme. Sometimes the daughter of a shrew is so disgusted with the spectacle that her mother makes of herself in her rages that she acquires an iron self-control. Sometimes a girl who has been brought up in a quarrelsome home, where every word was a fighting word, never permits an argument in her home. Sometimes a girl is so repelled by her mother's slovenly housekeeping that she becomes a model of order and neatness. Often a girl is so filled with pity for the way her mother treats her father that she spoils her husband to death.

But you can easily tell whether a girl is going to imitate her mother, or be warned by her example, by observing whether she admires her mother and thinks mother knows best or not. So, taking it by and large, it is a mighty safe bet for any young man to pick out the kind of a mother-in-law he wants and then marry her daughter.

INCREASED BUS FARES ON LONG RIDES SOUGHT

Saanich Council Told Rate Schedule Not Well Balanced

Gains From Fare Increases Eaten Up By Lower Long Hauls

Approval by the Saanich Council of increased bus fares on the Gorge, Burnside, Douglas Street and Lake Hill routes in Saanich was yesterday evening sought by the Vancouver Island Coach Lines Limited.

H. Husband, manager, stated that increases of certain six cent fares to seven cents last year had resulted in larger earnings but the benefits had been nullified by reduction of certain other rates to eight cents, made at the insistence of the council.

He suggested that advance of existing eight cent fares to ten cents should be approved and submitted the following table of fares:

SCHEDULE PROPOSED
Gorge route—City to Tilllicum, seven cents cash, four tickets for twenty-five cents; city to Admirals Road ten cents cash, no tickets.
Burnside—City to Esquimalt, seven cents cash, four tickets for twenty-five cents; city to Marigold, ten cents cash, no tickets.

Douglas Street—City to Cadillac, seven cents cash, four tickets for twenty-five cents; city to Agnes Street, ten cents cash, no tickets.

Lake Hill—City to Colwood, seven cents cash, four tickets for twenty-five cents; city to Lake Hill, ten cents cash, no tickets.

Mr. Husband submitted a table of operating costs of the four routes for three winter months of 1928-29 and 1929-30, showing the slight benefit experienced.

The letter was tabled for study.
